

Create an event to remember at The Queens Hotel, Leeds

All Hail The Queens... A destination for meeting, working, celebrating, staying, eating and drinking.

Introduction

All Hail The Queens.

Create an event to remember at The Queens Hotel, Leeds... A destination for meeting, working, celebrating, staying, eating and drinking.

With a rich history spanning 80 years, The Queens Hotel, Leeds has recently undergone a £16 million renovation.

Located in the very heart of Leeds city centre, conveniently next door to Leeds Station giving access to all national rail links, the modernised hotel pays homage to a rich and iconic history but most importantly, it plays to the 'new way' people are now using exciting city-centre hotel spaces.

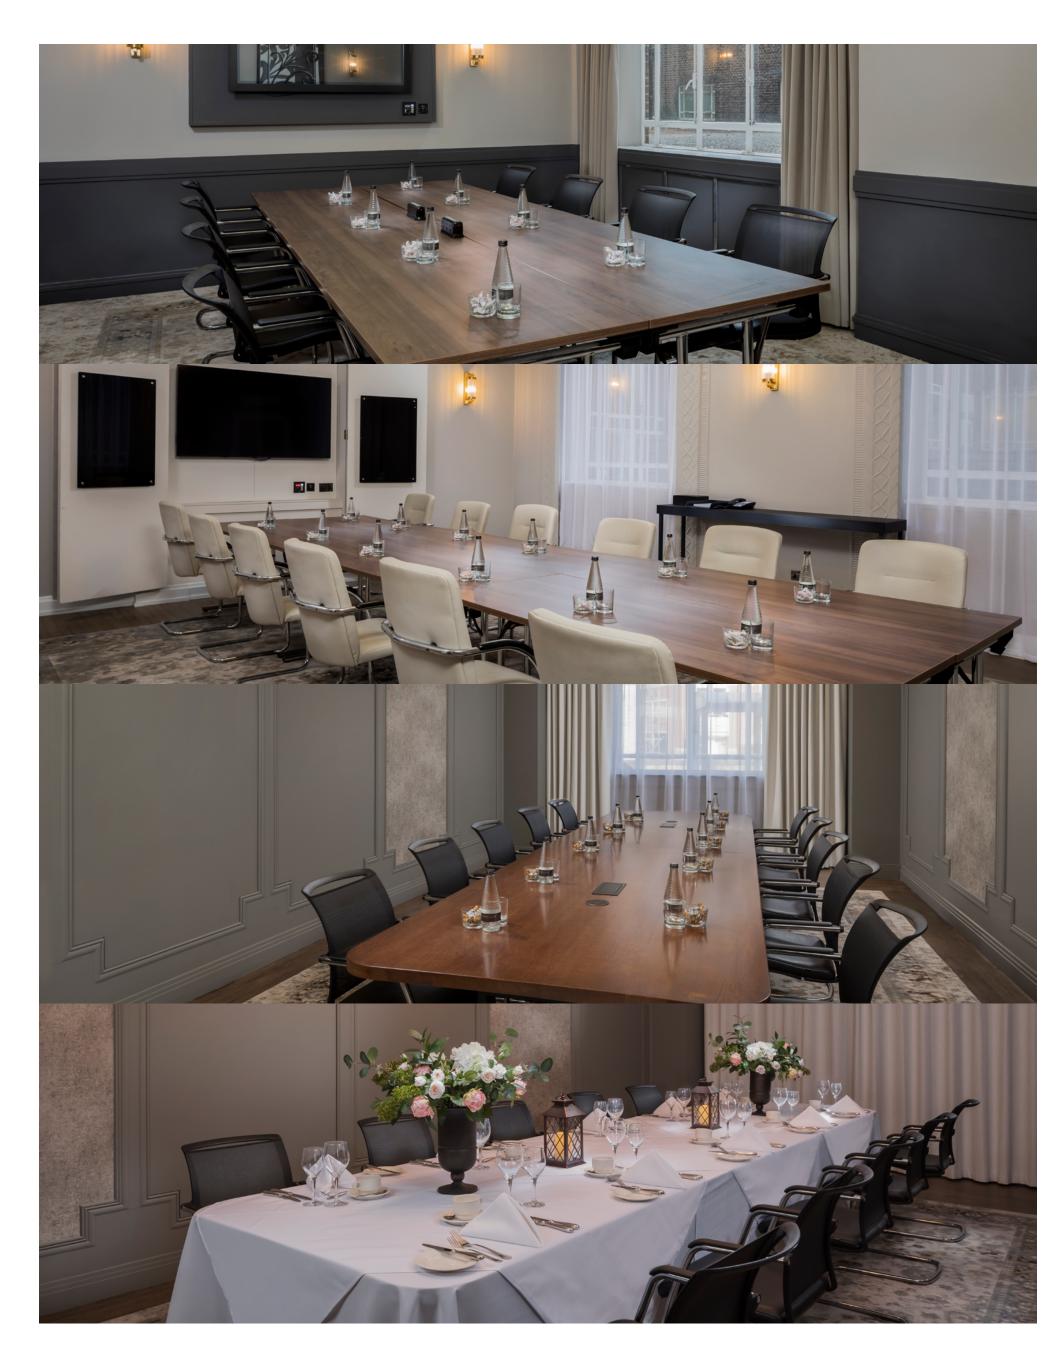

The full refurbishment includes a refresh and upgrade of all 15 meeting rooms including the restoration of hidden treasures such as original flooring. The hotel is also home to the 500 capacity Queens Ballroom, one of the city's largest and most prestigious meeting and event spaces.

A 'social hub' at the heart of the hotel, the totally transformed ground floor offers a multitude of communal areas, as well as creating a boutique and personal check-in area. The hotel offers the perfect place to host a variety of events, from small executive meetings to large-scale conferences, events and celebrations, offering an unmatched flexibility for meeting in the city.

There has been a much-anticipated renovation of all bedrooms, as well as adding an additional 16, bringing the room total to 232. The exciting new food and beverage offer provides the best cocktail and dining experience in Leeds, with a vibrant wine bar, outdoor terrace that spills out into the heart of the City, extensive coffee lounge and central restaurant offering the likes of afternoon tea and delicious a la carte options.

Every detail has been painstakingly selected to re-transform The Queen's Hotel into a destination with a difference, aligning design with comfort and ultimately creating an experience to remember for many years to come...

Meetings at The Queens Hotel

Accessible and awe-inspiring, we are the go-to destination for any serious business event.

The 15 meeting rooms offer an exceptional space for large conferences, product launches, motivational training or that all important board meeting.

The stunning art deco Queens Ballroom with its high ceilings and ornate balcony is ideal for a large conference or awards dinner with ample space for back projection of large stage sets. Equally, Palm Court offers a touch of glamour and that all important wowfactor. Smaller suites like the Linton offer a relaxed yet formal setting for more private affairs and the John Charles spaces offer a huge range of flexibility to suit you.

We are proud to work with a variety of dedicated team building and events partners at the hotel. Dependent on your requirements, we can provide highly engaging indoor team building events, as well as conference energisers and ice breakers plus interactive and themed evening entertainment.

Hybrid Meetings & Events: Working with our trusted AV supplier, we can help you design and deliver a meeting or event that incorporates both live and virtual elements. Delegates can be on-site in one of our hotel, across a range of our hotels or at a remote location - giving you the ability to interact with all your delegates with confidence.

Updates to our cancellation policy: For your convenience we've updated our cancellation policy, which can be viewed on request.

Safe Room Layout & Traffic Flow - We have created revised meeting room layouts to support social distancing so, when we host you and your colleagues, you have the piece of mind that it is in a safe environment.

Further details can be supplied on request.

Whatever space you're looking for, The Queens Hotel is the ideal meeting destination.

Meet the team:

General Manager

The exceptional team at The Queen's Hotel is headed up by General Manager, Alistair Campbell, who has extensive experience in the hotel industry and has been paramount in realising a successful transition for this iconic hotel.

Commenting on the hotel's transformation, Alistair says: "We have received an overwhelming response with people thrilled to see the hotel returned to its former glory. It is now my job to ensure that we exceed expectations and welcome guests to an experience that will be better than ever before."

Alistair continues: "We have a whole host of excellent meeting and events spaces at the hotel; from The Queens Ballroom, which offers the perfect backdrop to an awards ceremony or banquet to smaller, more intimate spaces like The Linton, which provides an ideal setting for team-building. Alongside this, our exceptional team really is second to none and we're just so looking forward to becoming the number one choice for events in the city once more."

Director of Business Development

Paul Priest has over 20 years' experience in sales and management roles with a particular passion for The Queens Hotel having recently returned to focus on generating new business opportunities, particularly in the meetings, events and corporate business sector.

Paul says: "The Queens is the perfect venue for conferences and banqueting events. The versatility of our meeting rooms and public area spaces mean we can be really flexible and offer our clients a wide variety of different event options, whether it be a large residential conference, a black-tie charity event, awards dinner or The Queens Ballroom to host a VIP after-party.

Paul continues: "The transformation is simply stunning and we have a wonderful opportunity to showcase the investment and repositioning of the hotel. With its history and heritage, I think most people are really excited to see what we have done."
